Shows Demand for Live Entertainment

When 4,000 persons turn out for the musical interlude accompanying the various debates of a candidate for public office, as occurred at Vernon Whitten's rally at the Hempstead county courthouse here last night, you can truthfully say that the local public's hunger for entertainment is greater than the regular supply.

We have movies and radio and newspaper comics, but real-life action is largely confined to the football and baseball seasons—relatively brief moments in a very long year.

Hope has had many ambitious plans for year-round entertainment during the 20 years I have known it, but pitifully few are the actual achievements.

We did build a first-class football stadium and the seasonal crowds fully justify the expense.

The softball field was started in Fair park, The Star underwriting half the original cost of the lighting equipment some years back. With the softball field and the football stadium, we need modern lighting systems of far greater capacity.

Nor do either of these accomplishments really meet the central demand of the public today. What it needs, very badly, is a big indoor sports or auditorium which can serve the dual purpose of accommodating either winter sports events or winter stage shows.

When you stop to think of it, fully half the year is unsuitable for outdoor events—yet Hope has no place to meet winter needs. It is something of a curse, to live in a city without any municipal debt against property—but it would be a much better city if we had the things you expect of a real town, even at the cost of borrowing.

What I think of when I see 4,000 turn out for a musical show is simply this: We can see it here in July—but if it were January we'd have to do without. No place for the crowd.

Tito's Real Sin Is Failure To Communize Yugoslavia
By JAMES THRASHER

There have been some amusing as well as puzzling aspects to the Tito-Communist fight since the first big blow-off. Communist parties in the other puppet states have dutifully followed the Moscow line and dutifully thrown through Tito's windows. Tito's Communists have been bravely throwing them back—but always careful not to aim them in Moscow's direction.

It has been something like a fight among the kids of one family, with all contestants keeping a wary eye on mother for fear she'll move in and whack the whole bunch of them.

Behind all the window dressing, however, is the fundamental problem, according to Bogdan Ruditsa, is Tito's failure to communize Yugoslavia. Since he formerly was Tito's information director, Mr. Ruditsa knows the situation. Probably no writer in this country who can speak freely and honestly knows it any better.

But it is not necessary to agree with him without thinking. Even when one discounts the great disclaimers that makes all issues seem clear-cut, his opinion still seems logical.

Tito's assignment apparently has been to industrialize as well as communize his country. Yugoslavia is a vulnerable outer bastion of the Communist empire. It is poor and backward, with a lack of the strength and self-reliance that would be needed if war threatened.

But since the Kremlin has rung down the iron curtain between its puppet-children and the west, Yugoslavia has had to turn to Russia for the help it must have in her start toward stronger self-sufficiency.

Hundreds of 18-Year-Olds Enlisting

New York, July 21.—Several hundred 18-year-olds swarmed to recruiting offices today seeking one-year enlistments in the army, air force, and navy.

The lines formed so early and were so long that the army, air force and navy. As several hundred half an hour ahead of schedule.

The navy line began forming shortly before midnight, with a city college student constituting a one-man line until 1:30 a. m. He was joined by 200 others before the navy offices opened.

The army-air force line formed at 2 a. m. It equaled the navy line by the time recruiting started. Forty lined up at the marine corps offices, which can accept about 25 a month for the city.

The new draft act permits 18-year-olds to enlist for one year, instead of waiting until 19 to be drafted for 21 months.

In Washington, many air and air force recruiting stations reported more than 25 applicants showed up in the first half hour. The navy and marine recruiting stations in Washington were more popular. Forty-eight youths were on hand as the office opened in the hope of being one of a quota of 25.

In Philadelphia, 18-year-olds arrived in 500 strong at the armed forces recruiting station and a staff of 12 non-commissioned officers and aides began taking applications.

The Boston recruiting office also reported "around 50" 18-year-olds waiting in line before opening hour. The navy also was swamped with 18-year-olds. As several hundred waited in the corridors of Boston's federal building, 64 applicants were processed in the first hour, recruiting officials said.

Later, 100 more filled out applications, as 50 other youths lined up.

3 Locations for Syphilis Tests Here

Main location of the Free Blood Testing Clinics to be held in Hope this Saturday, July 21, from 12 noon until 8 p. m., will be at the Health Tent on the Missouri Pacific parkway just west of the Hope station. Plans call for two other locations, one for the north end at Calvin Douglas store and one for the south end at Lewis Place.

Purpose of the tests is to uncover the hidden blood disease, syphilis. Contrary to popular belief the disease can be contracted by a person innocently and previous cases found in Hempstead county indicate also that many children have been born infected with the disease.

In order to fight this vicious enemy successfully, health authorities must have the active cooperation of every resident in the county. This means that every person should take a blood test themselves and they should urge their family and friends to take one also.

"This is the best way to combat the disease because nearly 90% of infected persons are unaware that they have anything wrong with them," one health official said. "This is a hard impression to overcome, but it is not many of these same people will suffer insanity, blindness, heart trouble, paralysis and other serious afflictions in the future."

When infected persons are discovered through the free testing program all medically indigent patients are offered treatment at no cost. Transportation to and from the center, three good meals per day, restful bed, clean linens, educational classes and recreational facilities are also given at the center.

Both the city officials, civic leaders and health authorities who are cooperating in the program join in urging every person in Hope this Saturday to get their blood test as a citizens duty.

12 U.S. Communists Arrested on a Charge of Seeking to Overthrow the Government

New York, July 21.—The seven under arrest were arraigned last night on the charges and all pleaded innocent.

The seven indicted by the grand jury, which had been investigating for about a year, were identified by federal officials as members of the Communist party's national board. Davis and Winston are Negroes.

The five being sought were identified as:

Irving Potash, manager of the CIO Furriers Joint Council of New York City; John Gates, editor since 1947 of the Daily Worker, official organ of the U. S. Communist party; Robert G. Thompson, chairman of the New York State Communist party; Gilbert Green, (806) South Independence ave., Chicago, Ill., district chairman for the Communist party at Chicago, and Gus Hall, of (1708) West 1st place Cleveland, Ohio, chairman of the Communist party in that state.

Separate indictments returned against all 12 men charged them with holding membership in the Communist party, "knowing well that said Communist party was and is a society or assembly of persons teaching the overthrow of the United States by force and violence."

Federal officials said the maximum penalty upon conviction under the Smith act was 10 years' imprisonment and a fine of $10,000 for each charge. Those arraigned last night in New York City were indicted on two charges each.

The Communist party statement said:

"The American people can now see to what desperate provocations (President) Truman is driven in an effort to win the election, by hook or crook. x x x The indictment of the Communists is neatly timed to embarrass the new people's party now holding its founding convention in Philadelphia."

In Philadelphia, C. E. Baldwin, campaign manager for Henry Wallace's New Party, said:

"We aren't making any statement on this because it doesn't concern the New Party. My only answer would be 'no comment.'"

Wallace Has to Say Yes or No to Reds

Washington, July 21.—(UP)—Henry A. Wallace's campaign alliance with American Communists exploded with trouble today on the eve of his presidential nomination.

In his campaign appeal, Wallace now support him to be re-elected Communist pals or front for an organization under considered charges of subversive activity.

His Third Party convention meets Friday in Philadelphia. It is a Communist-sparked movement substantially guided by the Communist party line and directed by men with numerous affiliations among organizations named by the House Un-American Activities Committee as Communist fronts.

Federal indictment of 12 members of the Communist Party national board on charges of conspiring to overthrow the government spotlighted Wallace's Communist campaign associates. National Chairman William Z. Foster and several other Communist board members were arrested last night with more to come.

Reports of Wallace's speeches recently showed him to be reeling under the Communist cloud. He told a New York state audience he wished the Communists would put up their own presidential candidate, for estimates that would cost him about 100,000 Communist votes.

But Wallace estimated that his own candidacy would gain 3,000,000 votes among persons who will vote for him so long as the Communists are part of his campaign organization.

The charge made against Wallace by CIO President Philip Murray and others is that the Communists invented the Third Party and horns-woggled Henry into running interference for them as a presidential candidate.

C. E. Baldwin, campaign manager for Wallace, called Murray's charge "false and nonsensical."

Baldwin was a New Deal associate of Wallace and presently is vice chairman of the Progressive Citizens of America which is under charges of submitting to Communist infiltration.

Elmer A. Benson of Appleton, Wis., is Third Party national chairman. Benson has a long record of animosities with organizations denounced by the House committee as Communist fronts. Joe Davidson, sculptor and Paul Robeson, Negro singer, are among the co-chairmen named with Benson. Davidson and Robeson also are listed by the committee as members of various Communist fronts.

The committee did not charge that these men were Communists but implied their conformity with the Communist Party line.

These advisers are expected to urge Wallace to challenge the federal indictments as political Red baiting by the administration to bolster Mr. Truman's election chances. And he probably will take their advice.

$10,000 Bond Is Fixed for Sen. Maner's Attacker

Hot Springs, July 22.—(AP)—A man charged with assaulting State Senator Ernest Maner with intent to kill has been released from jail under $10,000 bond.

A $5,000 appearance bond and a $5,000 peace bond were posted yesterday for Sid Ball, 49, a 263-pound concrete finisher.

Ball is accused of beating Maner in downtown Hot Springs Monday over political differences.

Maner and Ball have been supporting different candidates for prosecuting attorney.

Maner remained in a hospital here but his condition was described as "fine."

Ball is to appear in court next Monday for preliminary hearing.

Gen. Clay to Give Truman Berlin Report

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER AND ELTON C. FAY

Washington, July 21.—(AP)—Secretary of State Marshall said today the United States will do everything possible in the Berlin crisis "to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world."

At a news conference, Marshall was told that there is presently a widespread fear of war in the world over the Berlin crisis between Soviet Russia and the western powers. He was asked to express his views on the situation.

In a statement which he later authorized for direct quotation, Marshall said:

"I can only say at this time that our position, I think, is well understood."

We will not be coerced or intimidated in any way in our procedures in this crisis, and our responsibilities that we have in Berlin and generally in Germany.

"At the same time, we will proceed to invoke every possible resource of negotiation and diplomatic action to reach an acceptable solution and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world."

"But I repeat again we are not going to be coerced."

General Lucius Clay, American commander in Germany, will arrive here late this evening and he will confer with Clay tomorrow.

The White House said President Truman also is keeping in close touch with developments in Berlin. Plans to get a first-hand report from Clay.

Clay, the United States occupation commander in Germany, was due in Washington along with other top officials in the American zone. The White House said no date for his return has been set for Clay's talk with the president.

"Of course, General Clay will come in," Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters who asked if the general would be asked to visit the White House.

This was the first announcement that the president plans to hear Clay's report personally. The Army Department said yesterday that Clay was returning here at the request of Secretary Royall, and will go back to Berlin this weekend.

Ross said he "didn't say how to what extent Mr. Truman will discuss the international situation in his message to Congress Tuesday."

American officials, meanwhile, are readying new diplomatic moves in a determined effort to settle the Berlin crisis short of war. These moves, including a new note to Moscow, grow out of a new, three-point policy for dealing with the extremely dangerous situation in the Russian-blockaded German city.

Authorities familiar with the latest developments say the policy covers an absolute determination "not to be kicked out of Berlin."

But, they add, it also embraces equally strong determination to seek a peaceful solution to the crisis and (b) to use caution and restraint in both action and words so that the Soviets will be given no possible excuse for making the situation worse.

The nature of the basic policy decisions became known here shortly after officials disclosed that top American authorities in Germany had been ordered home for a series of talks.

Scheduled to reach Washington within the next 24 hours are Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the American occupation commander; Ambassador Robert Murphy, Clay's top-ranking political adviser; and a representative of Lt. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, chief of the U. S. Air Force in Europe.

Their talks appear likely to be a full review not only of the problem of supplying Berlin by air from the western zone of Germany but of the exact military situation in Europe as well.

At the moment, ranking officials here are still hopeful that the Berlin crisis can be settled before it reaches the point of open fighting. They do not, however, disguise their concern that it might lead to war.

Their determination is that if there is to be shooting, the blame must rest upon Russia, and not upon the western powers.

The military information Clay presumably is bringing back for policy-making officials probably deals with the deployment of American forces and the assessment of intelligence reports on Russian troop dispositions in Germany.

United States ground forces there consist of only about 90,000 troops. Of these, something less than 24,000 are combat troops, although the slightly larger constabulary force also is thoroughly trained in field combat.

Down in the Trieste area, 5,000 American ground forces men are on watch, about 3,100 of them combat troops.

The picture the air force representative can present is somewhat like this:

On the scene in Europe, meaning at bases in Western Germany or visiting in England—three groups of B-29 bombers, a total of 90 aircraft, one group of World War II F-4 fighters, a total of 75 planes; two troop carriers, totaling 96 airplanes of the twin-engine C-47 type; fifty-four big four-engine transports sent to Germany temporarily to aid the C-47s in flying supplies into beleaguered Berlin.

Due in Europe—16 F-80 jet fighters, now on an experimental transatlantic flight to Germany by way of Greenland, Iceland and England; 36 F-84 fighters, equipped with 75 F-80 jets.

Marshall in Denial UN Harbors Spies

Washington, July 21.—Secretary Marshall said today he does not know of any case in which a foreigner coming to this country for the United Nations has in any way threatened American security.

Marshall thus disavowed the testimony of two State Department officials before a Senate subcommittee late last week that hundreds of foreign agents may be operating subversively in the United States on United Nations credentials.

Members of the subcommittee said privately before Marshall's comment at a news conference that they expect some congressional action after the lawmakers reconvene Monday.

The two State Department officials who testified at the Capitol about the alleged espionage activities of United Nations personnel in this country were Robert U. Alexander, assistant chief of the State Department's visa division and William Harlow, chief of the department's diplomatic visa section.

The question came up when Marshall was asked to tell newsman what he thought of the testimony.

The secretary was then asked specifically about the testimony of Alexander and Harlow and he replied that while he had not gone over the file record of what they said he got the impression that their testimony was contrary to his own information.

Candidates Stump East Arkansas

Little Rock, July 21.—(UP)—Eastern Arkansas continued to be the stamping grounds of Arkansas politicians today when Jack Holt, Governor-elect, and Horace Thompson, bidding for the Delta county vote, campaigned in the area.

McMath, who launched a blistering attack on machine politics from a West Memphis platform last night, was scheduled to spend the day in Mississippi county. He will speak in Blytheville tonight.

Thompson, who spoke in Pocahontas last night, will also be in Blytheville today, as well as in Manila and Leachville. He will speak in Paragould tonight.

Holt—who spoke in Jonesboro last night—will visit Parkin and West Memphis during the day, delivering a speech in Magnolia tonight.

James E. MacKrell will be in El Dorado tonight.

The eastern Arkansas invasion Press revelation that a United Press organization—the Arkansas Free Enterprise Association—may take a part in the runoff campaign for governor.

Carrying his attack into the heart of what has been considered one of Arkansas' leading machine counties, McMath defied organization politicians whom he said "are scratching their evil brains trying to figure out ways to beat Sid McMath."

The Hot Springs prosecutor's blazing West Memphis speech came only a few hours after Thompson asserted that "Arkansas is a fraud, a fraud, a fraud with a fraudulent and crooked election."

In a speech at Mountain Home, Thompson deplored McMath's attacks on the state's elections and.

Stocks Rise Again to Offset Loss of Recent Slump

New York, July 21.—(AP)—The stock market today recovered still more of the ground lost in the stock Thursday to Monday decline.

Gains of a few cents to more than a dollar a share were added to yesterday's advances. Late in the day considerable opposition developed to any further recovery.

Steel stocks moved up, in part a reflection of the announcement by U. S. Steel Corp. of a boost in steel prices. The long-pending rails and oils also behaved well.

Wall Street sources reported that a very slightly improved view of the Berlin situation was a factor in the market.

Marie Named New Premier of France

Paris, July 21.—(AP)—Andre Marie, a Radical Socialist was called on today to form a new French government.

Marie, 51, was minister of justice in Premier Robert Schuman's cabinet which resigned Monday in defeat, opposing a $40,000,000 cut in the defense bill.

Marie is a moderate conservative and his emergence marked a swing to the right. He still is suffering effects of starvation in the German Buchenwald concentration camp.

Immediately after talking with President Vincent Auriol, he went to the ministry of justice to consult political leaders.

The Schuman cabinet fell Monday night because of a dispute over the budget.

Marie almost died of malnutrition in Buchenwald when he was a German prisoner and has never quite recovered.

The system of "parliamentary logic" as practiced before the war would require that the new cabinet would be composed of Communists, Socialists and Radical Socialists. However, neither the Socialists nor the Radicals trust the Communists and most of the time they are opposed to the Communists share power again.

Schuman's government did not include Communists. It was made up of Radicals and Socialists as well as his own Popular Republicans. It quit when the Socialists voted against his defense budget.

Army Readies Equipment for Overseas

Salina, Kas., July 21.—(AP)—A heavy supply of army equipment reportedly was being loaded today for shipment from Camp Phillips to England.

The information came from a source which said gun carriages, command cars, ambulances and other vehicles were loaded on 240 flat cars.

In addition box cars reportedly were being loaded with such supplies as uniforms and blankets.

Army officials in Washington said the reported shipment appeared too large to be a normal contingent of replacement equipment for occupation forces in Europe.

The source said here he understood the movement was being directed by authorities at the Smoky Hill Air force base, a B-29 bomber field. An air force spokesman in Washington, however, said the material was not air force shipment.

Camp Phillips, 15 miles south of here, was an important training post during the second world war. Four infantry divisions and supporting units were trained here.

Gen. Fuller's Car, Stolen in Hope, Is Found in L. R.

State police reported today that Gen. Fuller's car, stolen here recently, has been recovered in Little Rock. It was found abandoned there, but in good running condition. No arrests have been announced.

Woman Recluse Dies, Leaving Unsolved the Mystery of Both Her Life and Wealth

New York, July 21.—(AP)—Mary Powers, an elderly spinster who was reputed to be fabulously wealthy, has left the strange little world in which she lived alone for 25 years. She left as mysteriously as she lived.

A health department certificate showed she died yesterday and the coroner's inquest is now being held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Powers, who lives in the city.

Her name figured in a court action at Scranton, Pa., when the state of Pennsylvania attempted to claim under a 1937 law approximately $25,000 in Glen Alden Coal Company dividends belonging to her.

Company officials told the court that since before 1939 they had sent dividend checks to "Mary E. Powers, executive of the Caroline Powers Estate," who always refused to cash the checks. Miss Powers later claimed the money and received it.

The court action brought reporters to her door and disclosed a glimpse of the life she lived.

She is believed to have no surviving relatives.

A year a physician called. Occasionally a representative of the bank where she kept her money crossed the threshold of her shuddering door.

Hotel employees passed along the rumor she had $15,000,000. That was unverified, but it was money—apparently her only interest—was suddenly brought the outside world crashing into her life in March, 1937.

Goering's Widow Is Convicted

Garmisch-Partenkirchen, Germany, July 21.—(AP)—Emmy Goering, widow of Hitler Germany's No. 1 Nazi, was convicted today of being a Nazi, but was set free immediately.

She got a sentence of one year in a labor camp from a Garmisch denazification court but was freed because she already has spent 18 months in camp awaiting trial.

The court found the former actress and widow of Reichsmarschall Hermann Goering to be a Nazi of "first degree," despite the 55-year-old woman's claim she never joined the Nazi party.

The court also ordered 30 percent of all her property confiscated.

Yesterday, Frau Goering blamed her plight on Hitler. She said she ordered her name put on the Nazi party's roll in 1933.

Search for Miner Lost in Blast at McCurtain, Okla.

McCurtain, Okla., July 21.—Rescue workers continued their search today for a miner missing after an explosion in the Lone Star coal mine.

The missing worker is Lars Voge, 51. Another miner, Millard Hatt, was injured fatally in the blast yesterday.

Campbell Cameron, general mine superintendent, reported late last night that a fire which followed the explosion was becoming less intense. He said the explosion was caused by derailing of a loaded string of coal cars in the mine's main shaft.

Nineteen workers walked to safety.

The mine, operated by the Lone Star Coal Co. was just starting production after having been closed for almost three years.

Judging From Hal Boyle's Complaint, The New Look Covers Everything But Face

By HAL BOYLE

New York, July 21.—(AP)—There must be something that can be done about the great American female face.

The map of Europe is always changing. Why can't women change their faces too?

They're always promising you they will. They get up and say "Excuse me, I want to go and change my face."

But when they bring it back, there it is again—the same old deadpan they took out with them. Is that a change? Or is it just a case of the man being short-changed?

Let me preach this plea for a change in the great American female face by saying I am no face.

The great American female face can't be blamed on universal imitation of Hollywood's impersonal glamour. It goes deeper than mere identical patterns of rouge and lipstick. Some critics believe it comes from watching store mannequins. This theory holds that a woman who buys a dress she saw in a window display unconsciously feels she has to do the wondrous expression the dummy wore.

Some meanies say women put on this look because they aren't sure of themselves. Others say they do it to avoid wrinkles. I don't know the reason. But I do know it is killing civility. Any man knows what I mean who has graciously yielded his seat and been stabbed on the nose by the great American female face, guileless of gratitude.

The girls assemble this frozen face the day they turn from bobby doll to nylon, and dissemble it only in old age when they let their natural warm humanity show through again.

Maybe that's why children and old ladies are so popular.

Jack Holt Is Veteran Campaigner

Editors Note: This is the first of a series of sketches on the gubernatorial candidates.

By SAM HARRIS

Little Rock, July 21 — The most experienced campaigner in the race for governor of Arkansas is Jack Holt.

Holt is an orator, a master of the word, a tireless campaigner, a hearty and affable individual. He seems to thrive on hot weather campaigning.

He's been running for something and every getting elected practically ever since 1926 when he was elected (a) president of the University of Arkansas Glee Club, (b) president of Pi Kappa Alpha social fraternity at the university, and (c) president of the senior class of 1927.

A graduate of the university's law school, Holt hung out his shingle at Harrison, June 14, 1927. Eight months later he announced his candidacy for prosecuting attorney of the 14th district. He was elected in August, 1928, and subsequently was twice re-elected.

Holt became a candidate for circuit judge in 1934—and was elected. He stayed on the bench two years before becoming a candidate for attorney general. He was elected in August, 1936.

After serving three terms as attorney general, Holt ran for the United States Senate—meeting his first defeat at the polls. Opposed by three candidates of congressional experience, Holt led the ticket in the first primary, but was defeated in the runoff.

Holt entered the army as captain in the 10th Cavalry, general's department Feb. 2, 1943. He went on inactive status in June, 1944, and returned here where he opened a law office with his brother, J. Frank Holt.

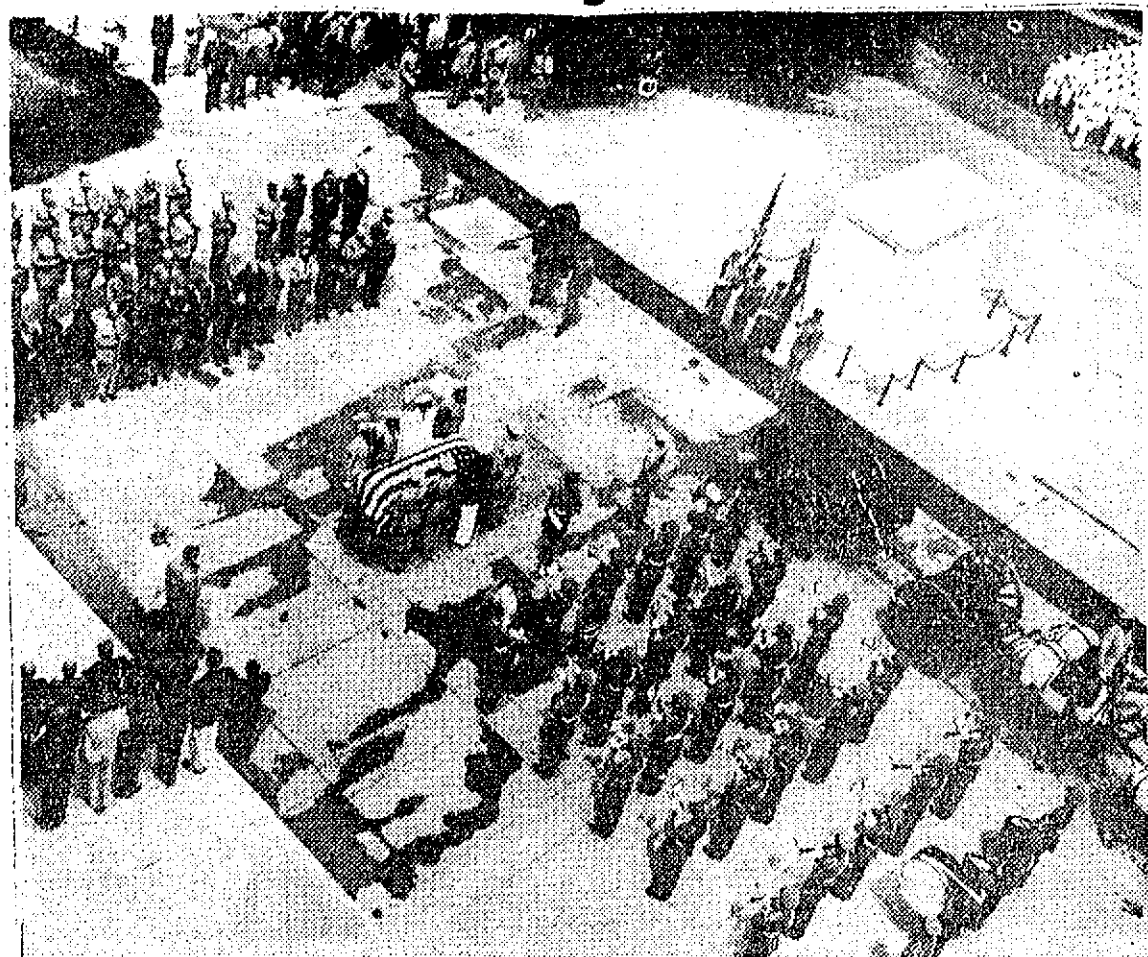

Holt is one of 11 children who were reared on a Boone county farm near Harrison. He received his education in Walnut Grove grammar school and in Harrison high school. He worked his way through the university at Fayetteville but found time for campus politics, a fling at dramatics, glee club and debating.

Holt is active in professional, patriotic and civic organizations in Little Rock. He is 45 years old.

He married Miss Margaret Spokes of Walnut Ridge July 27, 1927. They have two children, Jack, Jr., 19, a student at the University of Arkansas, and Peggy, 15.

Holt is a Methodist. His hobbies are hunting and fishing.

election laws as giving outsiders the wrong impression of the state. McMath declared he had been in politics only a short time but said that he had already incurred the "unpleasant" opposition of those who have fattened themselves on public funds.

Remarking that he was instrumental in breaking up the political machine of former Hot Springs Mayor Leo P. McLaughlin, he said "in the fight in Garland county we had the opposition, not only of the Garland county machine, but were opposed on every hand by powerful political interests in the state."

"As your governor, the people of any community who make a fight for decent, democratic government will receive the cooperation, not the opposition of the state administration," he said.

McMath added that he proposed to revise "our antiquated election laws."

"These election laws of the moment are an invitation to any corrupt politician to commit election frauds," he declared.

Meanwhile Jack Holt hinted that McMath may be contemplating bond issues other than four announced for highway purposes.

Without mentioning his name, Holt said "the 4-way bond deal advocated by one of the candidates for governor is not all of the bond possibilities that may be death with under the next state administration."

Holt promised to expand his statement in an address at Magnolia tonight.

In other political developments: MacKrell purchased space in Arkansas newspapers to deny that he was pulling out of the gubernatorial race. Claiming that all of his opponents are his personal friends, he said "I want you, as a voter, to know that I have not made any trade or agreement with any of them nor their supporters and I have refused to take one penny of their money."

MacKrell continued plans for his day-long rally at Mablevale on Friday.

Holt, Thompson and McMath continued plans for speeches in Little Rock on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights respectively.

Candidate Charles Fleming will be in Star City this afternoon and Pine Bluff tonight. John G. Lonsdale, Jr., will visit Magnolia, Waldo, Stamps, Lewisville, Hope and Texarkana.

quoted by name, said that to be able to send an armored train from Helmsford to Berlin "you first would need complete control of every single cabin along the line."

The British-licensed press had said the Russians were preparing to pull switches and signal equipment on the line if the Western Allies tried to ram through. But the British official dismissed "the rumor as without foundation."

While the emphasis veered to diplomacy, U. S. Superfortresses based in Germany engaged in a bombing-training mission over the former Nazi fortress island of Helgoland.

Sixteen American Jot fighters arrived in England. Their eventual destination is Germany. Another 69 will arrive by aircraft carrier in August to bolster American air forces in England.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS

Chicago, July 21 — (P)—All oats today sank into new low ground since dealings started in the deliveries now being traded.

The July contract lost the most ground but liquidation extended also to the far months.

Corn was lower most of the day, the July delivery dropping a couple of cents at times. New crop yellow grain contracts displayed some firmness, largely on the theory they are around the potential government loan level.

In contrast to feed grains, wheat held steady all day. Some of the buying came from mills and represented lifting of hedges against sales of flour overnight to the Production and Marketing Administration.

Wheat closed 1-1/4 lower to 1-1/8 higher July 22.26 1-4 corn was 4-1/4 lower, July 22.06 1-2-3-4, oats were 1-2-3 1-8 lower, July 77 7-8-84, rye was unchanged, December 1.88 1-2, and soybeans were unchanged to 3 cents lower, July 83.78.

Spot wheat was firm today; basis steady to firmer; bookings 85,000 bushels; shipping sales 25,000 bushels; receipts 288 cars.

Corn was two to three cents lower; basis unchanged to 1-1/2 cent easier; bookings 35,000 bushels; shipping sales 27,000 bushels; receipts 55 cars. Oats were lower with the futures; basis unchanged to 1-2 cent less; bookings 107,000 bushels; shipping sales 30,000 bushels; receipts 117 cars. Soybeans receipts were five cars.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, July 21 — (P)—The stock market wavered in a trading today after an earlier try to extend Tuesday's rally. The Tuesday advance spiked a three-day sharp decline.

Closing prices were still ahead fractions to around a point but well below the best levels of the day in most cases. Total volume for the day was around 1,200,000 shares.

Ending higher were Superior Oil of California (up 5 1/2), Standard

Tito Boasts He's the Best Red of All

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 21. — (P)—Premier Marshal Tito told 2,000 wildly cheering Yugoslav Communists today their party had become the "strongest and most successful Marxist-Leninist movement" in the nation's history.

This apparently was his answer to charges that the Soviet Union and the Cominform that Tito and other Yugoslav Communist leaders had deviated from the Marxist line and were pursuing an Anti-Russian policy.

Tito, addressing the Yugoslav party's Congress in a Belgrade suburb, was expected to speak at all eight hours in a massive exposition of the history of the Communist movement in his country. He was delivering it in sections of two hours or more.

The congress was expected to pledge the unanimous support. This will stamp it as a renegade from the Cominform, the Moscow-directed Communist Information Bureau, an association of nations in the Soviet orbit.

The most powerful defenses seen in Belgrade since the end of the war completely encircled the Tito-Corrida pavilion where the Congress is being held.

Arm units were posted around the entire area. A ring of anti-aircraft batteries showed that Tito and his men were expected for any eventuality.

It is expected that the Congress will discuss in detail the fundamental issues which have caused the split between Tito and the rest of the Communist world.

The delegates also probably will be called upon to ratify the expulsion from the party's ranks of Andrija Hebrang, former minister of light industry, and Straten Zujovic, former finance minister, because of their "traitorous diversionist activities."

Their removal from high government positions last May and subsequent arrest has been one of the issues cited by the Cominform to illustrate what is referred to as a lack of Democracy within the Yugoslav Communist party.

Bogging Down of European Campaign May Render Reds Desperate in Berlin Crisis

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

This column expressed the view yesterday that the greatest danger to the West in the Balkans and the Balkan states lies in the fact that her European conquest has bogged down and she is taking risks in desperate efforts to get the Red machine rolling again.

The inhuman food blockade of western Berlin is one of those risks. The blockade must be broken by the Allies, but the consensus of observers is that this isn't the time to use force, as some rather impetuous folk are advocating. Therefore it is encouraging to hear General Lucius D. Clay, U. S. military governor in Germany, deny published reports that his headquarters had recommended forcing an armed convoy through the blockade.

Such Allied action surely would result in armed conflict. At this point in our article a messenger boy paused by my desk and when I looked up he inquired about the crisis and asked anxiously: "Do we have to go to war with Russia?" So in a word I gave him the answer I was about to write here.

Obviously there is danger of war, but as things stand there seem to be ways of dealing with the situation without resorting to arms. Concerted action by the democracies in clamping political-economic sanctions on Russia could turn the trick.

With this in mind the strategy of the Western Allies seems to be developing along the line of applying sanctions and then applying firmly on the front which the Bolsheviks have reached through central Europe.

In so doing the democracies would be adopting the ruse employed by Hercules in defeating the Libyan wrestler Antaeus, whom none ever had overthrown because he was a son of mother earth, and every time he touched earth he received new strength. Hercules lifted him up so he couldn't contact earth and crushed him.

The Soviet Union has great resources, but a global politico-economic blockade by the democracies would hit her so hard she couldn't be able to contemplate making world war. Moreover—and this is vastly important—such a blockade would give time for development of the dissatisfaction which long has been at work among the Red slave-states of eastern Europe.

Moscow is steadily losing ground as the result of the anti-Communist ferment in important countries like Finland, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary, Romania and Yugoslavia. The Russians are preventing open rebellion by force—but there will come a time when that won't suffice.

to be transferred to Germany. The mobile striking force in this country upon which the army might call for help in an emergency is small—only 45,000 men, of whom 10,000 are service troops.

The air force is better off. It has, counting the three groups visiting in Europe, 11 groups of heavy bombers, all equipped with B-29s considerably improved in range and speed over their world war II performance.

Also available within the United States are 12 fighter groups of about 75 planes each.

Moreover, the air force is virtually at planned strength, whereas the army is far short of its 700,000 manpower goal.

Against all this, the Red army is estimated at about 3,000,000 men, organized into 175 combat divisions. In addition to its own troops, Russia controls in satellite states about 1,121,000 men, constituting 100 divisions.

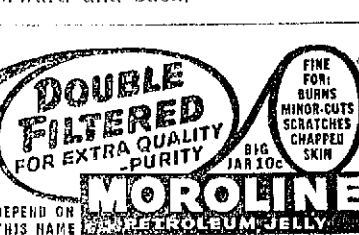

Estimates of the size of the Russian air force vary between 400,000 to 450,000 men. The latest estimate of aircraft strength is 14,000 planes.

Use of Force at Berlin Unlikely

By RICHARD KASISCHKE

Berlin, July 21 (P)—The western powers appeared tonight to have abandoned forceful measures for breaking the Soviet blockade of Berlin in favor of new diplomatic moves.

In Washington Secretary of State Marshall told newsmen the United States will do everything possible in the Berlin crisis to reach an acceptable solution "and to avoid the tragedy of war for the world."

American officials were reading new diplomatic moves in a determined effort to settle the crisis short of war. President Truman awaited a first hand report from Gen. Lucius D. Clay, the American military governor who is en route to Washington by plane.

In London a responsible British source said a new western power note protesting the Soviet blockade had been drafted and sent to Washington for review by top U. S. State Department officials.

Talk virtually ceased of bringing the month-old crisis to a dramatic climax by sending armed columns through the sealed approaches to Berlin. Reports that Americans were considering this action were current over the weekend.

Today a British military government official said it was "most regretful" that such a move had ever been mentioned. He said in any case it would have been "ridiculous and fantastic" attempt.

The official, who declined to be

The Doctor Says:

By EDWIN P. JORDAN
Written for NEA Service

Table salt is essential in the metabolism—the normal functioning of the human body. Nature keeps the salt in a constant proportion in the blood and tissues, and the amount of salt present in food or added in cooking or on the table is normally just about enough to maintain the necessary balance.

In certain diseases, however, the amount of sodium chloride (salt) taken in to the body has to be restricted. Excessive salt has either a bad effect on the diseased organs or holds an excessive amount of water in the tissues of the body, thus causing the accumulation of fluid in the legs or abdomen. This is called edema.

Excess Salt Retained
The excess salt is not eliminated normally but stays in the tissues; in order to maintain a constant balance between the sodium chloride and water in the tissues, excess water is also retained. For this reason the physician may reduce the salt in the diet of persons with certain kinds of heart disease, kidney disease or diseases of the blood vessels. There are some other conditions, like Addison's disease, in which the use of sodium chloride is also disturbed so that the intake has to be strictly regulated.

More body sodium chloride is

B-29s in Practice Bombing Missions Over Helgoland

Wiesbaden, Germany, July 21 — U. S. B-29 Superfortresses from Germany engaged in a bombing-training mission over the island fortress of Helgoland today, the U. S. Air Force announced.

The once fortified island of Helgoland is off Germany's northwest coast. Details of the mission, including the number of planes, were not available.

An air force announcement said merely that the bombers "engaged in a routine navigational and bombing-training mission."

lost than is taken in when there is heavy perspiration for a prolonged period of time. Salt tablets or the addition of small amounts of sodium chloride to the drinking water may be used to replace excessive loss of sodium chloride of this type. In some plants workers are encouraged to take a salt tablet with each drink of water.

If the sodium chloride deficiency becomes acute and is unremedied there may be muscular cramps, excessive fatigue and upsets of the gastrointestinal tract, such as nausea and diarrhea.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

QUESTION: Is there any danger in using the beauty creams containing estrogenic hormones now on the market?

ANSWER: Several years ago, harmful, but the weight of medical opinion now is that they do not have any dangerous effects.

THE STORY: Playboy Marcus Sterling has stolen his wife's diamond necklace and handed it over as security on a $10,000 gambling debt to racketeer Harry Bindle. To cover the theft, per-petrated while his wife slept, Sterling makes it appear a professional burglary. He spends the night at Edgecraft Country Club to establish an alibi. Along with the necklace he also took a sealed packet from his wife's safe. This turns out to be $10,000 in cash which Miriam Sterling had withdrawn from the bank for him.

Next morning Mrs. Sterling is found murdered in bed. At the club, Sterling gets rid of Miriam's cash by mailing it in a sealed packet to his secretary, Miss Willson. Police Lt. Talent brings Sterling home. Fingerprints show the presence of a third person, beside Mr. and Mrs. Sterling in the library the evening before.

XXI
Talent glanced past Ripley to Sergeant Gable, who had come out from the library. He returned his attention to Ripley and said, "Gus, there's something I'd like to have you do before we have Sterling down in the library. Hide those two ashtrays . . . the one with the cigar and the one with the cigarette butts. Put them somewhere out of sight and if you can find a couple clean ones, put them where the others are now."

"Okay, Lieutenant." "The wagon'll be here for the body in five minutes," Gable announced. "Where do we head now, Lieutenant?"

Footsteps on the porch delayed Talent's answer. A stalwart broad-shouldered, smoothly tailored figure was framed in the open door when Talent turned. The newcomer displayed finely chiseled features beneath a broad, high forehead, even white teeth between thick lips just slightly parted in a smile of recognition.

"Hello, Dick," Talent said. He introduced Assistant District Attorney Richard Trapgood to Gable. They walked into the library. Talent gave the new arrival a quick sketch . . . brought him up to the moment. He passed over lightly his own part in bringing Marcus Sterling home. One item he kept to himself: Miriam Sterling's checkbook with the $10,000 stub.

There was a clatter in the hall. "They're here for the body," Gable announced. "Let's get up ahead of them, Dick," Talent said. Upstairs, Trapgood's attractive smile vanished. There was no parting of the thick lips while he stared at the spectacle on the bed. His jaws quivered, the skin stretched over tightly drawn muscles.

When the stretcher men had gone downstairs, Talent locked the door of Miriam Sterling's room and took charge of the key. Across the hall, the door of Sterling's room was closed. Talent rapped lightly, turned the knob. Sterling was seated where he had left him. He got up when he saw

P. J. Poe New Telephone Manager

P. J. Poe

H. W. Shepard, veteran manager for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company here, is being relieved at his own request because of ill health, he announced today.

"My health has not been good for some time," Shepard said, "and I feel that the need of giving the best possible service to telephone customers requires someone not handicapped as I have been."

W. Q. Warren, District Manager for the telephone company, expressed regret at Shepard's leaving. "We are sorry to see him go, but we hope that being relieved of responsibility will give him the rest he needs to recover his health."

P. J. Poe, now manager of a group of telephone exchanges in northeastern Arkansas with headquarters in Blytheville, will be the new manager here, Warren announced. He will arrive to take charge about September 1, depending on how soon he is able to find housing in Hot Springs.

Poe, a native of Jackson, Missouri, is a graduate of Central College at Fayette, Missouri. He began his telephone career with Southern Bell in 1937 and served as district representative in both St. Louis and Little Rock before coming to Blytheville. Poe is married and has a 16-year-old son.

Shepard was born in Waldron, Arkansas, and attended the University of Arkansas. He joined the telephone company as clerk in Little Rock in 1912. After seeing military service in World War I, he returned to the company and was made manager and then district manager at Pine Bluff and at Hope.

In 1924 he came to Hot Springs where he has been responsible for a group of exchanges through the central and southwestern part of the state. At present, this group includes Hot Springs, Arkadelphia, Ashdown, Benton, Gurdon, Hope, Malvern, Nashville, and Bauxite.

DOROTHY DIX Boorish Boy Friend

Dear Miss Dix: I am a girl of 16 very much in love with a boy of 19. When we are together we argue and he teases me, but if I tease him he gets perfectly furious and he will grab anything in sight and throw it at me. What can I do to make him keep from showing his temper? He has two faults. One is that he treats me like dirt, and the other is that he is terribly jealous. If I go out with other boys and girls he won't speak to me.

CLARICE
Answer: Well, I'd say that if you have nothing more to do with him, for apparently he has none of the instincts of a gentleman. Any boy of 19 who slugs his sweetheart when he gets angry with her is certainly a poor matrimonial prospect because he is sure to be a wife-beater, and you must be lacking in all common sense if you even remotely consider him as a life partner.

Cal Love
Fortunately for you, you are having this attack of calf love at 16, so you will recover from it in time, I trust, to fall in love with a fine chap who will treat you with respect and affection, instead of making a doormat of you.

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband and I have been quarreling off and on for years, mostly about a woman who lives two doors away from us. Although I have never caught her and my husband together, he always looks at her and she always looks at him. No matter when I leave the house with my husband, or when he is alone, she always looks at him and he always looks at her. My daughter is always telling me that for a man and woman to look at one another doesn't mean anything, but I always feel that at some time or other maybe it did mean something.

I have been married for 20 years and my husband has always been faithful to me, but I don't trust him. What can I do?

Answer: Well, if you have been married for 20 years to a man who has never done anything worse than glance at the woman next door, you ought to be on your knees thanking God for your luck, instead of hunting around for something to gripe about.

Can't you yourself see how silly you are to make yourself miserable imagining things and trying to read deep, dark meanings into a man merely glancing at a woman who happens to live a door or two from him? Do you expect all men to put on blinders when they walk the streets?

My advice to you is to quit worrying about women glancing at your husband, or your husband glancing at them.

Dear Miss Dix: For the past several months I have been going steady with a widower 15 years my senior. He is a perfect gentleman in every respect and we are quite congenial. The snag is his daughter an only child, aged 20, who works out of town, but comes home week ends about twice a month.

At these times his time is all hers. Whatever she wants to eat, whatever she wants to do, all of her whims are catered to. No plans can be made for holidays because Lily will be home. Her father is affectionate towards me, but everything I do or say is compared with Lily's way of doing or saying things, and it has certainly gotten me confused. What do you think of it all?

DIZZY
Answer: It is a plain case of a father-daughter fixation and the sooner you recognize that and retire from the threesome, the better off you will be. You are wast-

6 Killed in Truck-Van Collision

Frenchman's Bayou, July 21 — (P)—Six persons were killed near here today in the collision of a transport truck and a van loaded with cotton-choppers, Deputy Sheriff Dave Young said.

Nineteen others were injured. Young said that shortly after the accident, the victims were scattered about the highway "like a load of corn." He said 30 persons were in the van.

Names of the dead—all Negro cotton workers from Memphis—were not fully known. Young said his list showed these victims: Ella Mills.

A woman named Scott. A man named Granberry. L. V. Jefferson.

The driver of the cotton choppers' van, Hervert Sales, was not injured.

Young said the transport driver is in custody pending an investigation and the pickup driver is being sought. He said the driver left his truck after the accident.

My earnest advice to you is to break off with Father and marry some man who doesn't possess an idolized daughter.

Traffic accidents have taken 201 lives — an average of one a day — in Arkansas so far this year.

Today was the 201st day of the year.

No one else was injured.

The 201st death total is 32 above that for the corresponding period of 1947. Totals are compiled by the Arkansas state police.

Uncle Mac SAYS:

James "Uncle Mac" MacKrell

Arkansas needed a Home for Unfortunate Children. We have cared for 387 children sent to us by some court. Our two children's homes and our hospital have been built without additional taxes.

On Monday, August 16th our Board of Control will pay off all debts against The Arkansas Academy, Inc., purchase necessary equipment — our boys will grow corn and we will make Uncle Mac's BLAIR'S BEST Corn Meal to be distributed by the wholesalers who handle BLAIR'S BEST Flour.

Our children's work will be self-supporting from this date forward, and we will not have to raise funds by either contributions or taxes. Your next governor should be a man of proven, successful experience.

THE BIGGEST SURPRISE of the entire campaign will be made at 9 o'clock Friday night, July 23, at our Statewide Rally at Mabelvale. Don't miss it.

Today, the quartet and myself will be at Humnote at 11 A. M. — Star City at 1:30 — and El Dorado Court House tonight.

Sincerely your servant,

James "Uncle Mac" MacKrell

Bing Crosby

a Legend in Own Lifetime

It is an uncommon thing for a man to become a legend within his own lifetime, but there is no doubt that Crosby is legendary in a purely American sort of way.

But even myths change and take on new form and character, and so it is there has been brought about in recent years a change in the substance of the Crosby story.

Once upon a time, in the popular mind of America, the name of Bing Crosby brought up the picture of a carefree, fellow without a care in the world, and consumed with nothing save having the best time of his life. He was pleasantly indifferent and casually dubbed himself as someone no more dignified than "The Granger."

He was known with extravagant gaudiness about his young sons and perched his hat on the back of his head.

All America loved it. The millions hurried to see Bing's picture and made a point of listening to his radio shows. Then came Pearl Harbor . . . and war. That day changed a lot of things for a lot of people. It also changed the mode of Crosby's life. Into the vanguard of the stars of the show business world came a new name. Bing's camp shows and other benefit performances aggregate a larger total than any other celebrity, not excepting the indefatigable hope.

While abroad some doubtless, musing over the pleasant hours that Bing had provided free of the realism of battle, described the star as "Uncle Sam Without Whiskers." It stuck, as did another nickname, "Der Bingle."

Crosby came home with these unique titles, affectionately bestowed by grateful G. I.'s.

With the folks at home, the change in Crosby as a personality of the American scene probably was crystallized with his Academy award appearance on the screen in "Going My Way" as Father "Chuck" O'Malley. Thus has the Crosby legend been altered, but if anything, change has consolidated it.

There are, of course, many lesser Crosby legends fitted into the larger one, some of them fairly so. Among them are the rumors that Crosby is the richest man in California, that he can't read a note of music and has never had a lesson in his life, that his horses never win a race, that he and on. Plus really got himself in for all this by being born the fourth of seven children to Harry Lowe Crosby and Kate Harrison Crosby on May 2, 1901, in Tacoma, Washington.

Bing will appear in his latest starring role in Paramount's Technicolor musical, "The Emperor Waltz," at the Sanger theater starting Sunday, July 25.

Tough Play

"Grimed de Bergerie" is considered the most difficult of all plays to stage according to the author's directions. The Encyclopedia Britannica points out that one scene alone requires more than 200 stage properties.

Enterprise Group May Join Campaign

Little Rock, July 20 (UP)—The politically powerful Arkansas Free Enterprise Association may take a hand in the state's run-off campaign for governor, the United Press learned today.

Lamar Williamson of Monticello, president of the organization, said his board of directors will probably meet after next week's pre-preference primary to look over the state's rights issue of the two remaining candidates.

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised if our organization didn't take sides in the runoff," said Williamson. "I believe the organization will go to town for the candidate who is willing to stand state's rights and the constitution of the United States."

Williamson pointed out that the incoming governor will probably control the Democratic state convention in September and would be influential in deciding whether voters placed on the November general election ballot by the convention would be pro or anti-Truman.

He expressed the hope that the group would name uninstructed electors "who understand that they are not to cast their vote for President Truman."

"I think the people of Arkansas should have the right to express their opposition to Mr. Truman and Mr. Dewey (G-O-P president, but nominee Thomas E. Dewey)," Williamson said. "Personally, I'd like the privilege of voting for someone who thinks more of this constitution of the United States and the dignity of the individual than of his own personal and political future."

Williamson declined to say whether his organization would be willing to circulate petitions placing the Disloyal electors on the ballot should the convention decide to remain "regularly Democratic."

"However, I think there is a chance that some private citizen would circulate such a petition," he said. Only 50 signatures are necessary to place the electors on the ballot as a separate or independent party.

Meanwhile, at least one candidate continued to carry on the oratorical fight against civil rights. Speaking at a homecoming rally in Harrison last night, Jack Holt again declared his opposition to President Truman's proposed legislation.

In the same speech Holt again denied that his highway program to borrow $10,000,000 from the state's surplus investment fund would take any money from schools "or anyone else."

"Any statement to the contrary is plain political sabotage," he declared.

A second candidate for governor moved away from the much-discussed highway programs and attacked State Revenue Commissioner Otto A. Cook.

At West Helena, Sid McMath did not mention Cook by name, but after pointing out that his opponents have called him a reformer, the Hot Springs prosecutor said: "I think our state government could use a little of that type of reforming, and I refer particularly to the revenue department. As your governor, I will name a man to fill the office of revenue commissioner who will not use his powers for personal and political purposes."

In other political action: Little Rock announced that plans for his Little Rock rally Thursday night have been completed.

Enterprise Group May Join Campaign

Little Rock, July 20 (UP)—The politically powerful Arkansas Free Enterprise Association may take a hand in the state's run-off campaign for governor, the United Press learned today.

Lamar Williamson of Monticello, president of the organization, said his board of directors will probably meet after next week's pre-preference primary to look over the state's rights issue of the two remaining candidates.

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised if our organization didn't take sides in the runoff," said Williamson. "I believe the organization will go to town for the candidate who is willing to stand state's rights and the constitution of the United States."

Horace Thompson also completed details for his Little Rock appearance Friday night and announced plans for an hour-long radio broadcast on the eve of the election.

McMath's headquarters announced that Dr. J. H. Reynolds, head of Hendrix College at Conway for many years, has endorsed the Hot Springs prosecutor's candidacy.

James MacKrell promised a "surprise statement" at his day-long rally at Mabelvale Friday and announced plans to tour the state by airplane on election day to get out the voters.

His Sister Mourns Gen. Pershing

By DOROTHY WILLIAMS

Washington, July 20 (UP)—A three-year vigil of sorrow ended today for a frail, gray-haired lady from Nebraska.

She had come to Washington in 1915 to cheer up the last remaining years of her famous brother—the stern soldier the world knew as General of the Armies John J. Pershing, the American hero of World War I.

To the world, his death meant the passing of one of the nation's military giants. But to elderly May Pershing, his only sister, it marked the end of a friendship.

For in the last three years, May Pershing had been her brother's constant companion at Walter Reed hospital. She had read to him. She had laughed and chatted with him. In short she had been her brother's best pal.

Miss Pershing lived at the guest house at Walter Reed. She had a day room or shrine, she managed to slip over to the hospital to take her meals with the man who led American armies to victory over Germany in 1918.

At the age of 87, she stood proudly by as the once-trusty old "Black Jack" cut a cake at his birthday party.

But now those three years of waiting for the inevitable are at an end. May Pershing intends to visit the National Cemetery at Arlington, home of Pershing's only son, Frank, Kate Harrison Crosby and their two sons.

After that, she plans to return to the Lincoln, Neb., home she left in 1915 when her brother suffered one of his attacks.

She will take with her memories of the homelike a grateful nation paid to her brother as it laid him to rest at Arlington National Cemetery yesterday amid the soldiers who fell along his victory road in France.

Almost unnoticed she stood right-angled throughout the ceremonies watching President Truman, Secretary of State George C. Marshall, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, Gen.

Omar Bradley and 3,000 other dignitaries braved the rain to pay tribute to Pershing.

And she will remember the thousands of humble citizens who were on hand to honor the nation's No. 1 soldier.

There were a few wet eyes in the crowd. But they were tears of pride in the great soldier the nation was laying to rest. Reporters noted that beneath her black veils, May Pershing was weeping silently.

But her tears were different. Her vigil was over, and her duty was done. Now she must go home alone.

DDT Doesn't Take Place of Screens in Stopping Flies

"Complaints that DDT spray applied by State Board of Health crews will not keep flies and mosquitoes out of the house do not indicate ineffectiveness of the spray," John Goodwin, Miller county supervisor of this malaria control work, stated yesterday.

"DDT does not take the place of screens; it will not keep flies and mosquitoes from coming into the house," Mr. Goodwin said, "but DDT on sprayed walls will kill all insects which come in contact with it there."

"We do not want householders to feel that they have received a bad spray job if insects enter houses when doors and windows are left wide open and unscreened," Mr. Goodwin said and added, "We can guarantee that any insect which gets into a house will surely be killed when it comes in contact with DDT sprayed walls; that is the way DDT works—it doesn't keep bugs out, but it kills them once they come in."

About 95 per cent of all rivers in North America flow south, in a generally southern direction or into streams that flow southward.

The first transcontinental telephone line was completed in 1915.

HORACE THOMPSON'S DECISIVE STATEMENT ON ROADS

Today we have a $24,123,000 financial program in the Highway Department each year. The debt service, including interest on our heavy bond indebtedness, is $7,175,000 each year. That leaves $16,948,000 in State Highway funds to be applied on roads in one way or another each year.

There is $11,421,000 of this free for road building and maintenance — after the turnback and after the counties, cities and districts have received all their funds. Enough of this $11,421,000 is available to match with federal aid money and give us at least $10,000,000 a year for new construction.

The $10,000,000 construction program for 1948 is now getting under way. Half of this $10,000,000 is State money, half is federal money.

Early next year another $5,000,000 in State money will be available for matching with federal money and this $10,000,000 new construction program for 1949 will begin. The projects for it already have been blueprinted. Contracts can be awarded this fall.

The only other federal aid money which has been allocated to Arkansas for spending between now and July 1950, is $3,100,000. There are any number of sound, legal ways this $3,100,000 can be matched in 1949 with State money. This would give us a $16,200,000 road building program for 1949. The State money will be available — and it will not be money borrowed without permission from the needy old folks and the public schools, or bond floating money.
